

An eyesight with puzzle fly through her face, then she looked at me in the eye, laughed, saying what's the matter.

Looked in her eyes, I could easily catch some hidden nervous.

Looked in my eyes, she certainly knew I have some innermost words to tell.

"Don't waste my time, tell me what you want to say, bro", she turned back, pretending she was busy practicing the piano.....We are couple, while she called me "bro", it is far from strange for us, since we are not only couple of close intimacy but also best friends of naughty humous.

I could tell she was using her naughty tricks to avoid showing nervous, and she was not used to that unnormal condition, which is somewhat awkward.

.....She is the nicest girl for me in this world, though she usually treats me unreasonably, for me, she is a girl of beautiful tender heart, a girl of humor and strong mind.....she is pretty, cute, graceful, like a fairy from the fairytale.

I looked at her for a long time, she finally turned back with an impatient look, then smiled with anger, inquiring whether something is wrong in my head——just that scene, right that moment, I made my mind that I won't leave her for a strange place that is millions of miles away.

"Here is the thing, baby bro, I was, at first...err...A professor asked me to participate in one global team and help with collecting sunshine for our planet, which will be used to fight against the longest-cold winter that may soon occur in the future. You know, it is my dream job to collect energy for the earth and I may never have such a chance anymore, also, I do think I can make a difference in the project, the project is important cause something terrible will happen if we don't have enough energy."

"You wanna go, right?"

"No, no, no. I indeed thought it. But I don't want to go anymore, because I don't want to leave you."

"So, it'll take a long time to finish?"

"Absolutely, and it is really far away from here, about 100,000 km, I haven't got a full understanding about that place yet, but I am sure it is far from good, you've found your favorite job lately, your parents are living not far away, you have your closest friends here, you are happy here, you are living your dream lives! I know you won't be happy if leaving for a faraway place, and I don't want you to leave here as well, but I am afraid that it'll take me so long a time to come back, it will be so many years I guess, I am afraid that we can't hold on to the end if we can't accompany each other."

She watched me in the eye, as if deep in thought. I watched her eyes, then hugged her slightly, "Now I've decided! I won't leave because I...I really love you so much."

She smiled, with a little bit shyness, she held my right hand and pulled me outside, "Let's hang out for a while, what a good afternoon! I think the thing you've noted is important, we must discuss it later in a more "serious" way, now relax, you!"

Me: "Good idea! Where to? Park, afternoon fair, or downtown?"

Her: "Downtown! I order you...buy something delicious for me!"

could be continued...